

2014 Recap

- Began graduate school
- Skied with family in Utah
- Led a project for a 200 page guide
- Was told I needed fertility treatments (joke is on that doctor)
- Traveled to California and partied with family for two weeks sans hubby
- Survived and somehow got an A in a linguistics class
- Traveled to Asia (Hong Kong & Thailand)
- Closed the chapter on my time at Go Fast Web
- Found out that I was pregnant & stayed pregnant!!!
- Made the decision to switch to online education
- Learned that a baby boy would be joining our family during a trip to the ER
- Had our first solo Thanksgiving & Christmas and had way more fun than we ever thought we would
- Survived my first year of grad school and accepted that the second "year" would probably take a couple of years to make room for being a stay/work at home mama
- Traveled to California (again sans hubby--poor Adam) to visit family and have my baby shower thrown by my mom and sisters

2014 you did not go according to plan, but I loved you anyway.
Bring it 2015. This will be a year for the books.