

October Wish List

In the words of my dear niece, Charlotte, "I'm dreaming of the one I love" (cue Disney music). Also, reality is I'm dreaming of a lot of things these days.

Being nearly 4 months pregnant and all, my shopping desires have definitely turned to accessories, shoes, outerwear, and makeup (BAH! Who are we kidding? I want that stuff all of the time.). It doesn't help that I still get so many promo emails with flashy headlines like "bagels+a morning flash sale!" from J.Crew--I mean WHO CAN IGNORE THAT?!

With that I give you my wish list. Ready?

1. Chinese Laundry Zane Ankle Booties

2. Fresh Sugar Lips Legends

I've blogged about Fresh Sugar lips before. Sephora is running a special where you get 7 minis of my favorite lip product EVER. It's great for testing the product, but also for trying out and expanding your lip hue collection. If I were my mom, I'd split this gift set between the daughters' stockings this Christmas. hint, hint

3. Pearl + Rhinestone Statement Necklace

I've been on the hunt for an affordable yet cute cluster pearl necklace. My sweet friend was wearing this necklace the other day. It seriously looked J.Crew-esque. She told me it was a $12 necklace from Forever 21. Um heck yes! I'm hoping to buy this beauty any day.

4. Boba (not Fett, but Bubble Tea)

Something that I miss hugely about California is the variety of Asian food. While I would really love a great bowl of pho, I've been craving boba tea for weeks. I'm considering buying black tapioca on ebay and attempting to my make my own from this Pinterest recipe.

5. A Good Pregnancy-Friendly Halloween Costume

I'm considering a lot of different costumes and part of me kind of doesn't want to dress up my ever-growing belly. I want something classy (not showing a ton of skin or being gorey with my belly involved), so I'm considering going as a skeleton like this one. I'm not down for painting my belly.

There are a ton of Pinterest ideas that involve painting my belly. I'm keeping that shiz on lockdown. I do think this is funny.
